basis which stretches far beyond the present Berlin crisis."

He called on the NATO allies to step up their own military preparation toward the 30-division goal which NATO set several years ago for the very ready defense forces in Western Europe. While he did not mention specific figures he said that nothing less than fulfillment of the agreed level of strength will suffice. He indicated that the United States is ready to put greater resources in Europe's defenses.

The President told the nation his six-point program will require sacrifice, courage and perseverance.

Kennedy said the measures will not immediately require any increase in taxes though they mean an officially estimated budget deficit of more than $5 billion. But he declared bluntly that if tax increases are needed to achieve a balanced budget next January, "those increased taxes will be requested."

The six steps Kennedy announced in his address from the White House are these:

1. A request to Congress for an additional appropriation of $3,247,000,000 for the military forces, plus a request of $207 million in new funds for civil defense.
2. A request for an increase of about 125,000 men in the Army's total authorized strength, which presently stands at 375,000, to bring the new level up to a million men.
3. A request for an increase of 29,000 in the active-duty strength of the Navy and 63,000 in the active-duty strength of the Air Force.
4. An immediate order, which is within the President's present authority, that draft calls "be doubled and tripled in the coming months," plus a request from parties praised Kennedy's blunt warning to Russia by words and deeds that America will fight for Berlin if necessary.

Republicans and Democrats signaled solid support for Kennedy's request for $3,454,000,000 in new defense spending. There was no publicly dissenting voice to his program of boosting military strength by 217,000 men.

There even was Republican backing for a $207-million break-ground fund for building civilian defense fallout shelters. In the past, Congress has snubbed such requests.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he has concluded "we have reached the stage where we must do something about this. We cannot permit the Russians to use this avenue of possible blackmail."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the assistant majority leader of the Senate, said he thought everything Kennedy asked for will be provided by Congress by the end of this week or the first of next.

He told newsmen he felt this would be one way Congress would demonstrate its support of the President. Humphrey also predicted that Congress will adjourn by Sept. 10.

Many who applauded Kennedy's firm stand on Berlin said they hoped the extra defense outlays could be offset by postponing some of Kennedy's domestic programs.

There was a general sign of relief in Congress that Kennedy was not asking for any immediate increase in taxes.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., head of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, said members have to face the fact that the President's program may require a boost in taxes. But he said he, for one, wouldn't vote for an increase "until we have made every effort to make savings elsewhere."

Dirksen said that his only critical comment about Kennedy's report to the nation was that the President should have said he was giving up some of his domestic programs.

"If freedom and survival are worthwhile, they come before the better of domestic programs," Dirksen said.

Sen. Homer Capehart, R-Ind., said that Kennedy could "cut out a lot of spending" if he chose. He said he hopes the President will let up on "this emergency business" which he said had been in vogue under Democratic presidents.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., said it is time for Kennedy to "put some first things first."

"He should call off his demand for non-essential spending and practice some fiscal belt-tightening," Mundt said.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., said the Democratic administration already has given signs it intends to do this. Case said Kennedy had indicated he intends to "get going on the facts of strength without rattling the sword."

There was no dissenting note to Kennedy's declaration that the West intends to stand on its rights in Berlin—and fight for them if necessary.

Five Persons Killed in Road Wrecks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five persons were killed, three of them in a single accident, on Arkansas highways Tuesday. And a DeQueen, Ark., man was killed in a wreck near Texarkana, Tex.

Harmon Stevens, 49, of Warren; his 46-year-old wife, Velma; and Charles W. Thornley Sr., 72, of Calico Rock were killed in the head-on collision of two cars on rain-swept U.S. Highway 167 two miles north of Blad Knob.

The Stevens' two children, 12-year-old Priscilla and 7-year-old David, were hospitalized at Searcy in serious condition.

Also seriously injured and hospitalized at Searcy were C. W. Thornley Jr., 37, and George M. Sexton, 66, both of Calico Rock.

State Trooper Billy Baker said a car driven by Stevens apparently swerved across the highway centerline and struck a car driven by the younger Thornley. The four members of the Stevens family were in one car and the three other persons were in the second car.

The collision of a pickup truck and a truck-trailer on U.S. Highway 65 near the Arkansas-Missouri state line, about 25 miles north of Harrison, took the life of Carl Mack Rogers, 22, of near Harrison.

State Trooper William Dearmore said Rogers' pickup truck apparently swerved across the highway and struck the side of the oncoming truck-trailer driven by Eugene Piercy, 34, of Lebanon, Mo.

Piercy was slightly injured but did not require hospitalization, Dearmore said.

A newly-opened Arkansas River bridge at Little Rock claimed its first victim when Barry Lee Nolan, 14, a Little Rock Negro, was killed in the collision of his bicycle and a car.

Officers said the driver of the car, Miss Judi Sparks, 18, of Little Rock, told them the bicycle swerved into the path of her car.

Rock last Friday to take an entrance exam for the Arkansas Baptist Hospital School of Nursing, and she also visited a relative, James Embree.

and she was unable to avoid hitting it.

A two-car collision on U.S. Highway 71 nine miles north of Texarkana, Tex., resulted in the death of Lee Strickland, 56, of DeQueen, Ark.

Bowie County authorities said Strickland was a passenger in a car driven by Charles Penny, about 25, of either Wilton or DeQueen.

Another passenger in Penny's car, Miss Willa Hill, 23, of Broken Bow, Okla., was hospitalized but her injuries were not believed serious.

The driver of the second car, James Brewer of Ashdown, Ark., was not hurt, officers said.

DOROTHY DIX

She's Running Away From Herself

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I love a girl who runs away from home. She left a while back with no word for me or her family. Later we learned she was trying to find a nerve specialist who had been her doctor at one time. The police picked her up. I drove her parents in my car to get her. It took a lot of talking to convince her that she should come back. Then she refused to put foot in her own home, choosing instead to sleep in the rear of my car. Finally she consented to go in the house. I only saw her a few times all right.

Now she's vanished again. It's been a week since either I or her parents have laid eyes on her. If I knew she didn't care, I would try and forget. But she's given me ample proof that she does. I'm 25, divorced and scarred by severe burns. She's a beautiful blonde just turned 18. Despite my checked red background and looks, she took me into her home and heart. That I can't forget. What to do next? —G.

Dear G.: If you love the girl go after her. She needs help as her quest for the nerve specialist indicates. She's running away, not from you or her parents, but from herself. Try, if possible, to find out what's really troubling her. There's something she obviously has not yet told you.

Dear Helen: My sister and her husband moved here from our small home town. He is a heavy drinker and, when drunk, tears our family apart. Now that I'm in his line of vision, as it were, he shouts the most horrible things that I was supposed to have done when young—his latest being that I was arrested for disorderly conduct. Of course, my sister and I know the tales are figments of his crazed fancy, for he is a very sick man; but, they have two teenage boys and I'm embarrassed for their sake, as for my own. My husband tells me to grow up and stop making a mountain out of a molehill. But, alas, he drinks with my brother-in-law, using as an excuse that he can help him more by being a friend than by giving him the cold shoulder. What do you think? Is there anything I can do to stop my brother-in-law from drinking without causing my sister more grief. —M.

Dear M.: Maybe your husband is doing some systematic drinking himself under the pretext of helping your brother-in-law. At the risk of sounding like a harp of single string, I repeat the advice I give to long suffering families of all drunkards: call in Alcoholics Anonymous. But your husband is right in one respect, the less notice you take of your brother-in-law's tirades, the better. Consider the source.

Dear Helen: Every time something extra special happens to me, I start worrying about it not lasting and—it doesn't! I won't perhaps, but it worked for him and thousands of others. Try it!

Braves Down Reds, Dodgers Slash Lead

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

A trio of Dodgers from old Brooklyn paced the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 7-2 victory over Philadelphia Tuesday night and moved the club within a game of the leading Cincinnati Reds in the National League race.

The Reds fell before Lew Burdette's brilliant two-hitter and lost 2-0 to the Braves at Milwaukee.

Gil Hodges slammed a two-run homer, Johnny Roseboro belted a two-run triple and Sandy Koufax, a Brooklyn native, pitched a six-hitter and fanned 10 of the former Phillies.

San Francisco's third-place Giants advanced to 7½ games of the Reds by battering five Pirate pitchers for 22 hits in a 10-7 rout at Pittsburgh. The St. Louis Cardinals, off winging on Ken Boyer's grand slam homer in the first inning, nipped the Cubs at Chicago, 6-5.

Roger Maris had a great night in New York as he belted four homers and drove in eight runs—four homers and 96 RBI—and propelled the Yanks to 5-1 and 12-0 sweeps of the Chicago White Sox. This moved the Yanks into first place in the American League, a half-game ahead of Detroit, nipped 5-4 in the ninth by the Angels at Los Angeles.

In other AL games, Baltimore edged Minnesota 2-1 and Kansas City nosed out Cleveland 3-2. The crowd of 10,391 at Philadelphia included the die-hards from Brooklyn who usually make the 90-mile trip to root for their heroes no matter if they were Los Angeles in their uniforms.

A Brooklynite hollered "Come on Gilly, belt one!" when Hodges, 37, strode to the plate in the first inning with Tommy Dail and Frank Howard on base. Gully whacked the ball into the upper deck in left field just like he used to do at Ebbets Field.

Roseboro's triple, scoring Daryl Spencer and Charlie Neal in the fourth, cemented the victory. Rosey came in on a triple by Maury Wills who also had a double and single.

Burdette, back in his old form, yielded an infield hit to Chico Cardenas in the fourth and a sliced double by Don Blasingame in the seventh. He cooled off Frank Robinson who went blank after hitting in 19 consecutive games, an NL high for the season. Hank Aaron gave Burdette (12-6) the run he needed by poling his 24th homer, a 420-foot blast in the fourth off starter and loser Ken Hunt (9-7). Burdette drove in the other run himself.

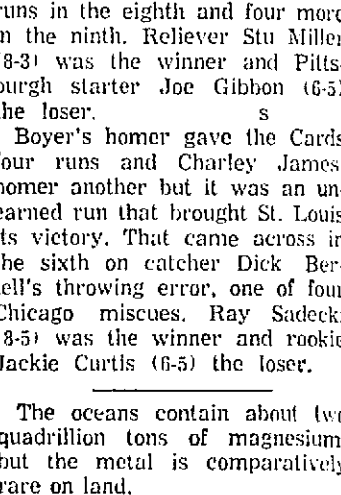

Harvey Kuenn and Matty Alou each got four hits and drove in four runs apiece in the massive San Francisco attack against the fading Pirates which broke the game wide open with seven runs in the eighth and four more in the ninth. Reliever Stu Miller (8-3) was the winner and Pittsburgh starter Joe Gibbon (6-5) the loser.

Boyer's homer gave the Cards four runs and Charley James' homer another but it was an unearned run that brought St. Louis its victory. That came across in the sixth on catcher Dick Bertell's throwing error, one of four Chicago miscues. Ray Sadecki (8-5) was the winner and rookie Jackie Curtis (6-5) the loser.

Maris' Homers Give Him 40, Ahead of Ruth

BY MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writers

Roger Maris' four-homer spectacular has convinced even the skeptic that Babe Ruth's 34-year-old home run record of 60 in a season is in grave danger.

The 26-year-old Yankee outfielder blasted two in each game of the Yanks' 5-1 and 12-0 routings of the Chicago White Sox Tuesday night that sent the New Yorkers soaring into first place, a half-game ahead of Detroit. The Tigers were beaten 5-4 in the ninth by the Angels' two-run counter rally at Los Angeles.

Maris drove in eight runs, three in the first game and five in the second—and now leads the major leagues in homers with 40 and runs batted in with 96. He is two homers in front of Mickey Mantle, who hit his 38th in the first game.

Maris became the second slugger to reach the 40 mark in July and he did it in the Yanks' 96th game, including one tie contest. Jimmy Fox did it first in 1932 and he also belted No. 40 in the Philadelphia Athletics' 96th game. Fox fell two short of Ruth's record with 58.

The creaky Yankee now is 24 games ahead of Ruth's record pace in 1927. The Bambino clouted his 49th in the Yanks' 120th game.

In the other American League games, the Baltimore Orioles beat the Boston Red Sox 5-1 on Steve Barber's four-hitter and vaulted to third place over Cleveland; the Kansas City A's nipped the Indians 3-2 with three runs in the eighth as Wayne Causey came home with the winning run on two wild pitches by reliever Bill Allen and the Washington Senators edged the Minnesota Twins 2-1 on Dick Donovan's five-hitter.

The Los Angeles Dodgers moved within a game of the leading Cincinnati Reds in the National League by trouncing the Phillies 7-2 while the Reds where shut out 2-0 by Milwaukee's Lew Burdette. San Francisco battered Pittsburgh 16-7 and St. Louis topped Chicago's Cubs, 6-5.

Maris and Mantle were joined in the home run cannonading by light-hitting Clete Boyer and Elston Howard. Boyer whacked two in the second game and drove in four runs. Howard, the top Yankee hitter at .363, also homered in the second game.

Behind that bombardment Whitely Ford (18-2) and Bill Stafford (9-4) coasted to victory. Ford had to quit in the seventh because of a headache and the heat. He was leading 4-0 at the time and Luis Arroyo cleaned up as usual. Stafford, out with a sore arm since July 1, shackled the White Sox with six hits.

The Tigers almost held onto first place when they took the spotlight hours later in Los Angeles. A three-run homer by Bill Bruton in the top of the ninth gave them a 4-3 edge. Then the pesky Angels fought back with two runs, capped by ex-Tiger Eddie Yost's game-winning single with two out.

Ryne Duren (4-10), an ex-Yankee got the win, and Detroit reliever Phil Rean (9-6) was charged with the loss.

Airman Deprived of Favored Think

LONDON (AP)—Nearly 60 airmen at the U.S. Air Force base at Lakenheath have been deprived of their tobacco and liquor ration cards for black market goods bought at the post exchange.

An Air Force spokesman said investigations were continuing at all U.S. bases in Britain.

The ration cards permit U.S. airmen at all British bases to buy 40 packs of cigarettes a month at 14 cents a pack, plus five bottles of spirits at such prices as $1 a quart for gin.

Because they are sold outside the United States, the goods are not subject to U.S. taxes. The British government has waived the taxes that drive the price of cigarettes up to 58 cents a pack and a bottle of gin to $4.20 on the British market.

The Hope Junior Legion took their first round of the 3-day tournament at Camden last night. In a 9 inning tilt they edged by Gurdon 10 to 9.

To lead off Hope's scoring were Danny Key, Ford Ward and Dan Hatfield, who made the score 3-0 at the end of the second. Two more were picked up in the 5th by Earl Ray Murphy and T-Bo Roberts.

In the sixth Carl McMurtrey, Jabo Horton and Gary Barrow added three others. The last two came in the 7th from Ward and David Moore.

Leading in hits was Murphy with 3 singles, Roberts had two doubles and McMurtrey a double and a single. Key and Hatfield had a single each.

McMurtrey, the winning pitcher hurled for 7 frames to strike out 11. Barrow came in to relieve him and struck out 3 and gave up only two hits.

All Women Dislike Phony Feminity

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — If there's any thing that curls the lip of an intelligent woman, it is the sight of a helpless man being snared by another woman's phony femininity.

There she is, Miss Caustic, the ACME of cool calculation and hard efficiency at the literary club—but now she is in the vicinity of a martini and a man, and she is gooey as hot fudge. All wonderment and delicacy is this woman you happen to know is a tiger at the bridge table. Her dainty feet, which have trod over secretaries all day, are poised tip-toe for dancing her voice, as she tells a man she's heard so much about him, is cloying her countenance, capable in daytime of freezing entire women's communities, is serene and smiling.

How does she fool this hapless male for one moment?

You bet she does.

At least, that is the age-old pattern of shrews women in search of a man. And that is the age-old — though rapidly changing — reaction of men in search of femininity. And mine is the age-old nausea of that large segment of ladies who are either too honest, too stupid or too introverted to play it fragile when we've never felt huskier, or to act naive when we know we can carry on an enlightened conversation.

The trend toward "playing it dumb" is becoming more pronounced than ever with all the current talk of female domination.

Sociological studies show that American girls are openly frightened of being labeled "aggressive" and will go to any deceptive lengths to hide whatever intellect and assertiveness their educations have given them.

This being so, one would think that more and more men would be innocently bartering their hachelordom for a bundle of acting talent wrapped around a hidden steel-trap mind.

The facts show, however, and

TWO VIEWS OF KUWAIT—Stripped to the waist under a burning 120-degree sun, British paratroopers, left, brought in from Cyprus, dig into Kuwait's stony desert near the border of Iraq. There they will stay until the international squabble over the newly independent sheikdom, which Iraq claims belongs to it, is settled. Another aspect of Kuwait life is this wrecked American car, right. The Arabic message reads: "Don't let it happen to you!" The sign is part of a traffic safety campaign. Kuwait, with a population of a little over 200,000, is one of the world's richest oil preserves. Production is handled by the Kuwait Oil Co., jointly owned by British and American oil companies. Fifty per cent of profits go to the ruler, Sheikh Abdullah as-Salim as-Sabah, to finance economic improvement of the little nation, formerly a British protectorate.

praises her, that this is not the case. Men are smartening up. They are avoiding the openly aggressive type, of course, but they also are darning their armor and acquiring X-ray intuitions against the would-be femme fatales who are all-out to snatch them.

There is no single simple explanation for why males have suddenly (at least it seems sudden) developed such a comparatively keen insight into the wiles of women, but it would seem logical to gather that all the emphasis on male-vs.-female dominance has caused men to study all kinds of women with more perception and apprehension.

The result is that they are much more difficult to trap with the baits of either pseudo-woman or excessive brilliance. American men are becoming leery of both, and once they get safely past the reasoning age of 25, statistics show they are far less likely to get married at all than their fathers were.

The current "good housekeeping" carries opinions of certain famed thinking males on the subject of "how to get nowhere with and agriculture, in that order. It is near several lakes, and attracts many fishermen and outdoor lovers.

Gassville has a colorful history. Jowett, who was born in England and came here in 1945 to retire, said the town got its name from an old general storekeeper famed for his long-winded tales (gass-ing).

"And meteorologists tell us we're located in the most favorable spot in the country to escape tornadoes and violent weather," he added.

The town was chartered in 1900.

Residents still draw their water from private wells. "Some of the old timers don't like this water system deal," Jowett said. "They say they have wells and their grandpappys had wells." But he said most of them are enthusiastic about the plant, the water system, and the town's future.

"Just think," he said, "now we can have our own fire department. I've just been to a town council meeting, and we're going to put fireplugs all up and down Main Street."

The government money will mean water for the school and the town's two churches—Methodist and Baptist.

Don Lewis, who owns a store and service station, says he is doing a "land office business" now that construction has begun on the plant. "And this is the information center," he added, pointing to the front steps of his store. The small building is near the plant, on the eastern outskirts of town.

Res. Bodenheimer, another general storekeeper and perhaps not as vocal as the man who named

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks by U. S. tourists at customs in London today were a mixture of the usual and the unusual.

"Go ahead, wise guy, and open the bag. It took me and my wife an hour to reach the Laboratory and the steward to close it. Let's see how many of you it takes to get it back together again."

"Imagine it—having to be searched to get back into your own country! I'll bet you didn't open Jackie Kennedy's suitcase."

"Personally, I'm a Democrat myself, but I'm a close friend of our Republican county chairman back home. Just what are you fellows looking for must?"

"Have a cigar. Have two cigars!"

"It's heartwarming to see how patient and thorough and hard working you boys are. Never mind that bag over there. It's okay, just laundry."

"Do me a favor, will you? Find the mad at my wife. Open all our world but that in there."

"The first one is mine the other four are hers."

"Whatever you put in your bag, please don't say anything about those towels or ashtrays, or anything else."

"I know it looks new but we've had this camera in the family for years. It's a little cologne for my old Aunt Melissa."

"This stuff is holy water and just how we're going to do it, but I know we'll get the job done."

a man." In it are these three slaps at the girls who try to nab spouses through the deceitful route:

Hal March — "Just as bad as a dominating woman is an overbearing woman who plays too hard at femininity."

Peter Ustinov — "I think the biggest strap on first meeting a woman is to be treated as if you were more interesting than you seem to yourself."

Patrick Dennis: "I can't bear a woman who rips your shoes off, slips a pair of slippers on you, flings you into a chair and then says, 'tell me about your day!'"

Men obviously are becoming so savvy that it's going to take finer and finer womanly techniques to win them. If they continue to shy off from both brilliance and false naivete, American girls are going to have a tricky time of it. They may even be forced to practice the old-fashioned traits of honesty, loyalty and man-before-me in order to acquire a happy home.

Meantime, it's consoling for the

Re-develop Grant to State Town

By WICK TEMPLE

GASSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The U.S. Commerce Department put this tiny Ozark Mountain town on the map Monday by granting it the nation's first project under the new area redevelopment act.

Gassville, whose single paved street is U.S. Highway 62, will get a federal loan of $31,000 and a grant of $129,000 to help pay for a water system vital to a new industry.

The Mar-arc Shirt Co. is building a $470,000 plant here to employ 1,000 from a four-county area in the manufacture of men's shirts. Its $2.5 million annual payroll will give the area's sagging economy a vital boost.

Gassville's population is 237 and its business section consists of three general stores, a post office and two antique shops. Many of its people are retired.

"But we're proud people today," said 70-year-old Mayor Harry Jowett, a retired circuit-riding Methodist minister. "Now we've got what it takes to develop our town and give our young people jobs at home where they belong."

The town is in Baxter County in the north central section of the state, 20 miles south of the Missouri border. It was selected for the plant because of its proximity to Marion, Searey and Newton counties, from which part of the work force will come.

The plant is being financed by a $235,000 bond issue voted by Marion and Baxter counties last November. Many of the older residents vigorously fought the bonds because they will mean a five mill property tax. The company will pay $18,000 a year rent for 25 years, and this money will largely amortize the bond issue.

The bond issue was made possible by a 1960 state law allowing counties to pool forces to build industry. After the bonds were voted, the shirt factory thought it was ready to go.

But Gassville didn't have enough assessed valuation to build a water system, and insurance companies insisted that the modern plant have plenty of ready water in case of fire.

The four counties applied for the redevelopment money before the law was passed three months ago. In fact, officials even had to draw up their own application blanks.

The four counties will raise the rest of the money for the water system through a newly created water district.

People here were sure the federal money was coming. That's why the construction was begun and the company began training 420 workers in vacant buildings in Gassville and surrounding towns.

"But we didn't know we were going to be first on the redevelopment program," said Mayor Jowett, who receives no pay for his work.

Negotiations for the shirt factory began a year ago this month, in days when Gassville's income was from tourists, retirement pay and agriculture, in that order. It is near several lakes, and attracts many fishermen and outdoor lovers.

Gassville has a colorful history. Jowett, who was born in England and came here in 1945 to retire, said the town got its name from an old general storekeeper famed for his long-winded tales (gass-ing).

"And meteorologists tell us we're located in the most favorable spot in the country to escape tornadoes and violent weather," he added.

The town was chartered in 1900.

Residents still draw their water from private wells. "Some of the old timers don't like this water system deal," Jowett said. "They say they have wells and their grandpappys had wells." But he said most of them are enthusiastic about the plant, the water system, and the town's future.

"Just think," he said, "now we can have our own fire department. I've just been to a town council meeting, and we're going to put fireplugs all up and down Main Street."

The government money will mean water for the school and the town's two churches—Methodist and Baptist.

Don Lewis, who owns a store and service station, says he is doing a "land office business" now that construction has begun on the plant. "And this is the information center," he added, pointing to the front steps of his store. The small building is near the plant, on the eastern outskirts of town.

Res. Bodenheimer, another general storekeeper and perhaps not as vocal as the man who named

Science Has to Study Many Things

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ancient waters, death among the mammoths, and but wars are in the science news.

Old Water

Water in some deep wells in the Saudi Arabian desert appears to range from 20,000 to nearly 25,000 years old, three U.S. Geological Survey scientists report.

They measured the age of water through its content of radioactive carbon-14, which is formed in the atmosphere by cosmic rays, and then drifts to earth or falls in rainwater.

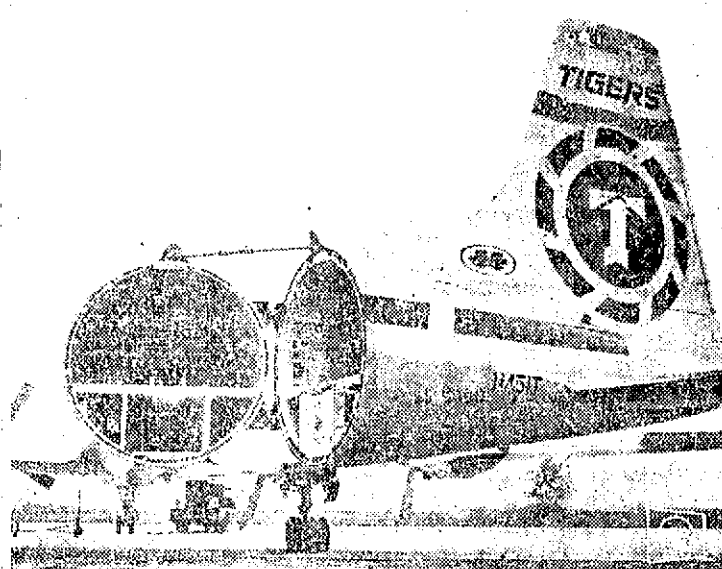

The deep well water may have fallen as rain during the Wisconsin glacial period when there were heavy rains, said Leland Thatcher, Meyer Rubin and Glen F. Brown. They analyzed samples of water collected by the Arabian American Oil Company.

Bug War

To fight insect pests, use bug-eating bugs, urges Carl B. Huffaker, of the University of California, in a current project Huffaker is trying to find a natural enemy to control scale insects in olive groves, and says that very effective predatory insect has been imported from Persia.

Demise of the Mammoths

As successes in bug-to-bug war, Huffaker cites the importation of Australian beetles to control a weed in Northern California rangelands, and the spread of a natural enemy milky white disease among Japanese beetles infesting eastern trees, and says that very effective predatory insect has been imported from Persia.

A MIGHTY INTERESTING TAIL—There are no tall tales about this revolutionary swingtail air freighter. A product of Canada, the freighter is built to allow speedy loading of cargo. It's shown on first landing in New York.

Home Front Not Ready in Event of War

EDITOR'S NOTE—What benefits have accumulated from U.S. civil defense programs to date? In this third of four articles, Sterling F. Green examines the value of previous efforts.

Civil Defense No. 3—Reservoir of Assets

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials agree the home front would not be ready—despite a considerable measure of civil defense preparedness — if World War III would come this year.

The modestly financed and largely voluntary effort of the past decade has left these assets:

A warning system officially "excellent." From the Arctic outposts a warning can be flashed to more than 400 state and city central warning points in 15 seconds. The relay to 5,000 more local points averages seven minutes. The time is being shortened.

The nationwide wire network for transmission of alerts, orders and information is being backstopped by a radio network for use if the wires are knocked out.

Forty federal agencies, some state governments, and many major corporations have set up secret emergency headquarters remote from target areas and equipped for survival and communication.

Major banks and insurance companies tuck away microfilm copies of their records in blast-proof underground depositories. The Federal Reserve Board has provided for ready-to-use caches of currency.

The annual "Operation Alert" exercises have schooled key federal officials in running the government from hidden "relocation sites," under hypothetical conditions intended to duplicate the chaos that would follow an attack.

Civilian take-cover and evacuation drills have had good success in many areas, less satisfactory results in others.

A stockpile of survival items exists but is inadequate. Besides medical and engineering supplies it includes 1,400 emergency hospital setups, distributed in every city.

The old City of London, which consists of one square mile, has only 4,900 permanent residents. However, it is London's financial district and some 400,000 people work there during a business day.

Many, many thanks to my relatives and good friends for everything done and said in helping me to have the happiest birthday of my life. My 100 birthday.

A Short Short Story

WILL POWER

By J. HARVEY BOND

Sam was a barber, somewhat different from the mine-run of men in the tonsorial profession. Sam was a listener, not a talker. Good guys and bad ones came to his shop.

Schultz was one of the good boys. An interesting talker who knew a lot. He was a salesman and Sam thought he knew everything. Maybe Schultz had libbed one of his facts and figures, but he way he gave them off the cuff made them sound authentic and who cares, while waiting for a haircut a fact is real or manufactured as its interesting.

Benny was one of the bad guys. He stopped at a nearby tavern before he came in for a haircut and smelled like whiskey. He also had the manners of a jackass and the intelligence of an ape.

On Tuesday Sam wasn't busy and as a rule when he wasn't busy he'd sit in his chair, looking out the front window at people. Especially women. Most especially pretty girls.

Sam's favorites were prone to attract the attention of young men.

"This had not been true of Sam's favorite, a girl he called 'Sweetheart.' But today Sam received a shock.

Sweetheart was the kind of girl Sam might have courted when he was young, and therefore it came as a great shock when he saw her on this Tuesday with a young man. Sam could see from her manner that romance was in bloom. He knew the signs. But this was not the source of the shock.

Sweetheart was being escorted by Benny, the bad guy.

Sam couldn't stick his nose into Sweetheart's life, not even diplomatically. And it wouldn't do any good to ask Benny his intentions. Benny had diplomatic immunity. He would have slugged Sam for interfering.

It was on this same day that

Schultz came in for a haircut. "Mr. Schultz," Sam asked, "if something is going to happen—something you don't want to happen—and if you got no control over it, what do you do?" "Close your eyes and pray," said Schultz, philosophically. "Uh—uh," said Sam. "My prayers wouldn't pull no weight. I ain't been to church in a long time."

When Sam wasn't busy he sat in his barber chair and watched people go by.

"Well, there's another school of thought. An imbecilic school, but if wise men are often wrong, maybe sometimes an imbecile is right."

"Yeesh! What?"

"This particular following thinks that if you believe a thing is true, and believe it hard enough, it will come true," said Schultz.

"Must be something like self confidence," said Sam.

Thereafter, whenever Sam had a minute to spare, he concentrated on believing that Sweetheart would not be the wife of Benny the bad guy.

The next day he saw Benny and Sweetheart. They were together, but there was a pout on Sweetheart's pretty lips and a nasty frown on Benny's face. Sam took heart. "It's working," he said.

Months passed and Sweetheart was no longer seen in Benny's company. And Benny was as ill-tempered as a gorilla.

Then one day the door opened and Sweetheart walked in.

"You seen Benny lately?" she asked.

Sam stood with his clippers in his hand and his mouth open. He hadn't been concentrating on believing Sweetheart wouldn't be Benny's wife lately. He didn't think it was necessary any longer. Now Sweetheart was in love with Benny again. Everything Sam had

JFK Under No Illusions About Russia

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's talk last night, on defense problems intensified by Russian pressure on Berlin, was made against this background—

His talk proved tough. Long ago he expressed the belief it would be a disaster to have the notion the United States would not fight for Berlin.

He said it would be a great mistake to think the Russians are aiming only for Berlin, that their real aim is New York and Paris. Meaning: to split the allies, which would leave Russia master of Europe and isolate this country.

It could happen if the allies—who set up their NATO military alliance to defend Western Europe—chickened on defending Berlin, preferring to let it go rather than face war for it.

Therefore, Kennedy tough talk to Americans, to alert them to the possibility of war and rally them to his support in stepping up defense was tough talk in two other directions.

He was talking to the Russians, to warn them not to push their luck; and to the allies in Europe to stiffen their backbone by assuring them of American determination to stand with them against the Russian menace.

And his talk about adding more divisions to the American armed forces, it will be a direct needle to the allies to do more in their own defense. Those NATO allies were originally supposed to produce 96 divisions.

But now in Europe—where Russia probably has more than 100 divisions to throw into a fight—NATO has about only 22. Five of them are American. Even if they increased their divisions, the allies wouldn't be in a good spot for ground war.

The Russians know this. And, unless Kennedy has changed his mind, he thinks so, too. Asked in an interview 17 months ago if the allies are in a position to fight anything but a nuclear war, Kennedy said no.

Nevertheless, Kennedy did not sound belligerent. He has left a door open for negotiations with the Russians about Berlin.

This is exactly what he did seven days ago in the tough note this country sent the Soviets on Berlin, warning them not to try force. But one part of that note was more propaganda than reality.

It said that in any settlement with Russia the United States insists on "conformity with the principle of self-determination" for the West Germans and the Germans living in Communist East Germany.

The last thing the Russians want is to let the East Germans—in free and open elections—

Convicted Slayer Undergoes Surgery

CORONA, Calif. (AP)—Carole Tregoff, 24, convicted with Dr. B. Bernard Pinch of the 1959 murder of his wife, has undergone surgery for removal of a tumor. The operation was performed 11 days ago.

The superintendent of the state institution for women here, Mrs. Irene Carter, said Monday the tumor was non-malignant. It was discovered during examinations of Miss Tregoff when she entered the prison last April to begin a life sentence.

Pinch, Miss Tregoff's lover, is serving a life term at San Quentin.

decide whether they want to associate themselves with the West Germans or live under communism.

So it's a useful propaganda needle for the United States to keep telling the Russians the two Germanies must vote on what kind of government they want. Besides, the West Germans won't agree to permanent division of Germany.

But Kennedy himself—even though he said little of German reunification again tonight—said on Dec. 8, 1959: "German reunification, which represents the long-range goal, is certainly not in the cards for many years."

Nothing has happened since then to make him more optimistic. That statement he made in 1959 was only part of many things he said about Berlin.

U. S. to Step Up Land Buys for Waterfowl

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate commerce subcommittee has set a hearing on July 31 at a bill to speed up purchases of land to preserve breeding grounds of wild fowl.

Already passed by the House, the bill would authorize advancing of $150 million to be used to complete within the next 10 years a program to acquire a total of 12.5 million acres of marshy lands in Minnesota, Wisconsin, the Dakotas and elsewhere in the country.

The bill has the support of Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., who plans to ask its approval.

The bill is an answer to Arkansas since ducks which breed in marshy northlands during the summer spend much of the winter in Arkansas.

As explained by its sponsors, the measure advances $100 million in federal funds for the program with the understanding that the money will be repaid with revenue from sale of duck stamps to hunters.

The federal government now is engaged in a program to buy marshy lands through use of the duck stamp revenues of slightly less than $5 million yearly.

But at this rate, sponsors of the bill said, much of the land would pass into private hands, be drained and used for farming and thus be unavailable.

At one time, the House Fisheries Committee reported, there were 127 million acres of wetlands in the country. By 1955 this had dwindled to 74 million acres and of this only 22.5 million acres are of sufficient value for migratory waterfowl use.

"Each year this acreage shrinks considerably," reported the committee. "Time is running out in the race to preserve our migratory waterfowl."

Therefore, it said, the program should be stepped up to a 10-year program as otherwise it would take 30 years or more to buy the required lands.

The plan is to take the $150 million in federal funds plus $50 million which would be taken in through duck stamp sales—the next 10 years and utilize it at the rate of $2 million a year for land purchase.

Thereafter duck stamp money would be used to repay the federal advance.

U. S. Envoy Will Talk to Khrushchev

MOSCOW (AP)—U.S. negotiator John J. McCloy flew to Premier Khrushchev's Black Sea vacation halfway today for top level talks aimed at getting the stalled U.S.-Soviet disarmament talks off the ground.

The two powers were directed by the United Nations to decide by Aug. 1 on a forum for and the makeup of a new multinational disarmament conference.

There is no sign here now that they can meet this date.

An American spokesman declined to confirm diplomatic reports that the talks are in deadlock and that McCloy and Khrushchev are going to try to break it.

But, despite the approaching deadline, the talks have been in themselves. The Soviet Union also recess since last Friday and will resume before Thursday at the earliest. The deadline of Aug. 1 is the following Tuesday.

But it is doubtful there would be any U.N. protest if the talks take longer than anticipated.

The United States regards the bilateral discussions as primarily procedural, preceding formal talks among many powers. The Soviet Union wants the two powers to reach some kind of disarmament agreement just between themselves. The Soviet Union also is trying to get the 10-nation neutrals.

Ghana Leader Ends Visit to Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah ended a 15-day visit to the Soviet Union today, declaring Soviet unity legal people.

should teach the people of Africa a lesson in their struggle for "liberation from imperialism and colonialism."

Nkrumah, leaving by plane for Warsaw, Poland, told a crowd at the airport that the successes achieved by the Soviet Union in short time proved what could be done by a "united and today declaring Soviet unity legal people."

Be Specific, Is Asked of Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has asked Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to be specific about a "policy of strength" which would lead to total victory over Communism.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Monday that Goldwater in a speech July 13 had picked on a stirring phrase in "total victory" but one that might be dangerous.

"Is it (total victory) to be won by nuclear war?" Fulbright asked. "Or can 'total victory' be won without war—by some brilliant stroke of diplomacy or by arguments of such compelling logic that the Communists will acknowledge the error of their ways and abandon their grand imperialistic design?"

He asked if the policy of strength Goldwater urged meant a military invasion of Cuba "which would destroy the Castro dictatorship but which would also alienate the rest of Latin America."

He also asked if Goldwater favored commitment of American forces in Laos and—once "total victory" was achieved—military occupation of Russia and China to preserve the victory.

Goldwater's speech was

Airman Discovers a New Comet

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—"I've been looking for one all my life," said the man credited with discovering Comet Wilson while flying at 29,000 feet off the Oregon coast.

A. Stewart Wilson, 34, of Seattle, second officer on a Pan American World Airways flight from Honolulu, said he was looking casually for the planet Mercury with his binoculars.

Then a wedge of light appeared and narrowed to a point—the head of a comet.

At San Francisco, other airline pilots also reported seeing a mysterious light Sunday and Monday mornings, but Wilson, an amateur star gazer, apparently was first to report it.

When Wilson got home he tried to telephone Harvard Observatory. He couldn't raise anyone so he wired. Monday Harvard reported the discovery and said the name would be Comet Wilson.

The new comet has a long tail and third magnitude brightness, which makes it two to three times dimmer than the North Star but much brighter than the Milky Way.

Harvard said it can be seen in the northeastern sky in early morning.
